THE MIDDLEBURY CAMPUS

VOL. XVII. MIDDLEBURY COLLEGE, WEDNESDAY, DECEMBER 1, 1920 No. 10

NEW SPANISH INSTRUCTOR HERE

Senorita de Onate to Be On Staff of Department of Spanish

COMES HERE FROM MADRID

Was Secretary for Ministry of Public Instruction for Five Years

Senorita Maria Diez de Onate, a graduate of the University of Madrid, who has been engaged as one of the staff of the Department of Spanish of Middlebury College, has arrived in Middlebury and taken up her duties at the College. For five years Senorita de Onate was Secretary of the "Residence of Foreign Students" at Madrid, an institution maintained by the Board of Extension Courses, under the Ministry of Public Instruction of Spain. Last spring in the competetive examination held by the Board of Extension Courses for foreigners at the University of Madrid, Senorita de Onate passed first in the list of candidates, as a result of which she was appointed an instructor in the Summer Session of the University.

At Middlebury she will be associated with Professor J. Moreno-Lacalle, Head of the Department of Spanish and Dean of the Spanish School of the Summer Session, and will assist Professor Lacalle and Senorita Caridad Rodriguez in their courses. Senorita de Onate is also a graduate of the Conservatory of Music in Madrid, where she took first prize in piano. Her coming to Middlebury means much for the social life of the Spanish School. During the college year she will have charge of one of the special Spanish tables at the dining room in Battell Cottage, an arrangement whereby students of Spanish are given opportunity to secure practice in conversational Spanish under the direction of instructors of the Spanish Department. Senorita de Onate will have a prominent part in the social life of the Spanish Summer School.

MIDD FACTOR IN DECIDING EASTERN FOOTBALL TITLE

Scoreless Tie at Hoboken Punctures Stevens' Championship Claim

Commenting on the extreme difficulty of selecting any single college eleven for premier honors in Eastern Inter-Collegiate football this year an Associated Press dispatch from New York yesterday mentions Middlebury as one of the factors in preventing the determination of a championship team. In the game with Stevens, October, 23, Middlebury held the Hoboken aggregation to a scoreless tie which though the latter team completed the season with a no-defeat record effectively prevents it from laying any stronger claim to the eastern title than Harvard, Princeton, Pittsburgh or Penn. State.

From a defensive standpoint the article concedes first honors to Boston College which, with one more game to play, has maintained an absolutely clean slate and has held its opponents to a total of 16 points. A second group in the leading elevens includes Dartmouth, Syracuse, Navy, Army, Brown, Holy Cross, Lehigh, Williams and Yale.

Middlebury was conceded four places on an All-Vermont eleven selected by the Burlington Free Press as was Vermont while Norwich received three. The Middlebury men selected were Captain Mead, Keppler, Quackenbush and Ashley.

MAIER AND PATTISON, TWO PIANO ARTISTS, AT MEAD CHAPEL TO-NIGHT

Large Attendance Anticipated for Second of Winter Entertainments--- Leacock Ticket Sale Begins Saturday

Tonight at 8:00 in Mead Memorial Chapel, Guy Maier and Lee Pattison, the well known pianists will present a program to two pianoforte music. This entertainment is the second number in the course arranged by the Student Life Committee. The ticket sale, above the 472 season subscriptions has progressed favorably, and gives indication of an attendance of nearly six hundred.

The following program will be presented

Impromptu Roccocco .....Schutt
Afternoon of a Faun .....Debussy
Scherzo .....Saint Saens
Variations on a Theme of
Haydn .....Brahms
Pupazzetti .....Cascella
Coronation Scene from Boris
Godunow .....Moussovgsky
Valsea and Scherzo .....Arensky
Rakoczy March .....Hutcheson

Messrs. Maier Pattison have met with ovation after ovation on their recent tours. The press comments in the New York papers were most flattering, an event most unusual for the concert reviews of that mecca of musical artists. A few extracts are noted below.

"No pair of pianists has displayed a better ensemble than the two artists (Maier and Pattison) of last night"—N. Y. Herald.

"Messrs. Maier and Pattison have made a successful study of ensemble playing. Their art is distinguished by five precision, clarity and well marked rythm."—Sun

"No pianistic ensemble heard in New York has surpassed that of Messrs. Maier and Pattison."—Evening Mail

Guy Maier and Lee Pattison gave another of the recitals of music for two pianos, by which they have become favorably known here and elsewhere yestrday afternoon at Jordan Hall. There was an enthusiastic audience of good size. If the performers had wanted to break Jordan Hall records for encores, they might have done so, but they wisely contented themselves with adding extra pieces at the end, refusng to insert numbers in the middle of their carefully planned program.

—Boston Globe

The pianofortes to be used by Mr. Maier and Pattison are manufactured by Chickering. Two pianofortes have been sent to the chapel, and have been unpacked, in readiness for the concert. One piano was used at the recent recital by Jan Kubelik, the world eminent violinist, in Burlington.

Leacock Ticket Sale

Sale of tickets for the Stephen Leacock lecture, the third number of the College Entertainment Course, which is to occur Wednesday, December 15, will commence Saturday morning at the C. O. Frost pharmacy. Slightly over one hundred seats, the entire number above the 472 season subscriptions will be offered at one dollar each.

BASKETBALL SEASON OPENS TO-MORROW

Four Teams Clash in First Contests to Decide College Title

'VARSITY OPENING FOR DEC. 10

Regulars To Oppose Albany Law Five On Local Court

The curtain will rise on the 1920-21 basketball season to-morrow evening in McCullough Gymnasium when representative fives of the four classes meet in the first of the eighteen game series to decide the annual Inter-class championship. In the first contest the seniors will take on the first year men and later in the evening juniors will be opposed by the sophmore quintet. The complete schedule as announced by the basketball management this week calls for two games each Thursday evening after Christmas holidays, with the exception of the two week interim during examinations, until the conclusion of the season.

Three Series of Six Games

The schedule is arranged in three series of six games each which will enable three meetings of each two teams during the season. The first series will be concluded by December 14 just prior to the holidays and in the first three weeks in January preceding examinations the second round will be completed leaving but six games in the second semester. Both games to-morrow evening will be refereed by Arthur Kenworthy.

No Cut in 'Varsity Squad

With the opening of the 'Varsity season delayed one week Coach Brown has been availed an additional seven days to whip his charges into shape for the first game here with Albany Law School one week from Friday. Practices for the large field of candidates were held regularly last week and as yet there has been no cut in the squad nor any definite announcement of the first team personnel. Both are looked for within the coming week.

Two Three-Day Trips Assured

Proceeding on the grounds of the original sanction by the Athletic Council of the season's general program Manager William Cohen has concluded arrangements for a three-day Christmas trip beginning December 16 which includes engagements with Dartmouth, Connecticut Agricultural College and Trinity. Negotiations have also been completed for out-of-town games at Harvard, New Hampshire State and Northeastern College January 13, 14 and 15. Of the six home games called for in pre-season plans three are now definitely guaranteed. In addition to the opening engagement with Albany Law, Massachusetts Agricultural College and Northeastern College have been obtained for the home court on January 22 and February 5, respectively. Final arrangements for the triangular state series with Vermont and Norwich are being delayed on account of some uncertainty as to whether or not the latter institution will be represented in the branch of sport during the coming season. Manager Cohen has plans under way for a three-day New York trip after the spring examinations.

The Undergraduate fund for the support of basketball has been swelled by seventy dollars within the last three weeks, bringing the total up to $420. No complete canvass has yet been made of the faculty.

Think it Over

With the rapid growth of the college, desire on the part of students for practical work in writing with a sense of literary value, has become extensive. To an appreciative mind, the reading of delectable bits of prose and poetry brings a desire to create. Where there exists no demand for creative writing, such a desire is apt to end with the impulse. As incentives to foster originality, fluency, and accuracy in the expression of thought, there must be an outlet for such expressions and a competetive spirit among the students, the whole under faculty guidance and supervision. Students who like to write, also like to see their best efforts acknowledged by their immediate community. They like to compare their work with the work of others, to experiment with different styles of writing and different form of expression.

The only medium to accomplish these ends, is a periodical primarily for the purpose of fostering an interest in the possibilities of our own language, which we have reason to believe is sadly underrated by students of the academic world. Of what avail is fluency in French, Spanish, and other foreign tongues if one cannot employ with the utmost ease and accuracy the most widely used language in the world to-day? Literary periodicals are fast becoming established institutions in many of our most progressive American colleges. It has been suggested from time to time that a publication of this sort would present boundless possibilities to the students of Middlebury College interested in this kind of work and we feel assured that there are many such.

There is no doubt that a paper essentially of a literary nature would involve much time and effort on the part of those who cooperated in establishing it, but if it proved to be a worthwhile cause of permanent value to the college as well as to individuals, volunteers for the work would doubtless be forthcoming. The chief difficulty at present would be lack of financial support, and an editorial staff who would be willing to devote the necessary amount of time and attention to the work, where no college credits were involved. The first of these exigencies prevents any immediate steps toward this undertaking, but surely the matter is worthy of consideration as a possible future development.

We should welcome an expression of student sentiment through our columns in regard to this suggestion.

Forgotten, But Rightly So?

When the usage of Old Chapel for the daily devotional exercises ceased in 1917 undergraduates neglected to retain one of the most impressive features of the old service for Mead Chapel. Respect for seniority in order of leaving is still observed among the four classes but without regard for members of the faculty seated in the chancel. In the haste of undergraduates to reach the front of the auditorium following the reading of announcements there results a daily jam which blocks the aisles to the President or othrs conducting the service. In Old Chapel it was the custom for undergraduates to remain standing until those upon the platform had passed out. The revival of this seemingly forgotten custom would lend to the daily service in Mead Chapel much of the dignity and impressiveness characteristic of the ritual of former days.

Fresh air and sunlight are at one with good educational methods. With seventy-five students and one instructor gathered in the Lecture Room on the ground floor of Old Chapel common sense should suffice to make clear the need for auxiliary ventilation. When at one hour last week every window and every door as well as several blinds in this room were closed with the above number of students in attendance it is not surprising that the instructor had difficulty in getting his ideas across.

PERSONAL

D. Philip Locklin '20, instructor of Economics and History in Rutland High School spent the week-end on the hill.

'17. John M. Quirk was married on the morning of Thanksgiving Day to Miss Gertrude E. Hannon in the Holy Family Church at Port Henry, N. Y. Quirk is now an instructor of science in the high school at Stratford, Conn. The couple will make their home for the winter with the parents of the bride in Port Henry.

The Periscope

Do your Christmas shopping early!

And Harry Lazarowitz,Proprietor and owner of the Middlebury Supply Co., with his extraordinary aptness for pecuniary advancement, makes the additional request to "Do your Christmas shopping continually!"

Whereas Billy Farrell, the enterprising clerk at Clayton M. Hanks, with an eye ever open to business sagely reminds us that it is "more blessed to give than to receive".

This issue marks the completion of the first half of the stint of the present Campus board. Congrats.

Winter has been officially opened and the season for coasting is on. Ye Ed. and we had our inaugural slide on Sunday night last thereupon being treated to a merrie spill under the guidance of "Rhomboid" MacDonnell. Ye Ed.'s first thoughts were for his new suit which lost two weeks wear in the escapade. Moral: Beware all brands of Scotch.

We wonder how many saw us take our first fall of the winter season last week while going up the chapel walk. It must have been a good one for not a few have congratulated us upon it. If you missed out, never fear, we will probably repeat before the season is over.

Or perhaps "Bunny" Cabot will oblige with that memorable slide he took his Freshman year on the way to Math. class. There are some who will never forget that classic and "Bunny" blushes yet at the mere mention of it.

"Why go to the movies?" asks Dean L. I. B. "We have them every morning down the chapel walk."

A goodly number of terpsichorean artists came and tripped it as they went on the light fantastic toe last Wednesday at the Sophomore Hop.

The advance notice of the Hop printed in our worthy contemporary The Campus stated that the dance would begin at 8:30 and that the orchestra would number seven pieces.—Otherwise the report was K. O.

But even the best of us make mistakes. That is why our Ed.-in-Chief has an eraser on the end of his pencil.

Many of the students and other undergraduates Thanksgivinged at their respective homes. This includes our Musical Correspondent who more than Thanksgivinged and has at last returned to our busy midst.

To forestall further claims we hasten to announce that "The found has been lost." Our Eversharp pencil has gone the way of the wicked and has mysteriously disappeared.

Cabot '22 now admits that education is often expensive and painful. We have nothing against "Bunny" personally but it did our heart good to see Rutland beat Brattleboro.

Our Exchange Editor has performed his semi-annual stint and now our humble sanctum sanctorum invites inspection by even the most discriminating students in advanced courses in Home Economics.

The size of The Kaleidoscope office will not permit inspection parties of more than two at a time.

Monday afternoon, one of our local ministers called at the Register Office and, not knowing us, paid us a compliment.

Thanks

AN APPEAL

To Kaleidoscope Contributors:—

Those who are making drawings for The Kaleidoscope will aid greatly in cutting the cost of the book if they will make the half-page drawings 10 x 7¼ inches and the full-page drawings 10 x 14½ inches in size.

The following drawings are in urgent demand: (whole page) Seniors, Sophomores, Commencement, Fraternities, Sororities, Athletics, Basketball, Baseball; (one-half page) Faculty, Publications, Wrestling, Tennis, Musical, Jokes, Finis.

Any good cartoons may be given space if drawn half-page or quarter-page size. Drawings must be made on heavy white paper with Higgins India ink and all lines should be drawn heavy in order that good cuts can be made. The Junior class cartoons should be 1½ x 2 inches in size.

BOTH COLLEGES OBSERVE THANKSGIVING DAY

Pilgrim Celebration at Pearsons Hall—Thomas Family at Hepburn

The tercentary anniversary of the landing of the Pilgrims was celebrated by the women of the college last Thursday afternoon, immediately after the Thanksgiving dinner was served at Battell. The gathering took place in Pearsons and was in charge of Anne Littlefield '22, costumed as a Puritan maid. After the singing of a few Thanksgiving hymns, a pantomine representation of "The Courtship of Miles Standish" was presented by an all-star cast. The poem was read by Dorothy Douglas '22 and the characters were as follows: Miles Standish, Helen Bolton '23; John Alden, Lulu Abel '23; Priscilla, Margaret Billings '22.

The program was concluded by a realistic Indian wardance. The participants were seven typical, painted braves, and the performance was punctuated at frequent intervals by skillfully executed war-whoops.

Hepburn Dinner

A splendid Thanksgiving dinner with President John M. Thomas and his family as guests, was held in Hepburn Hall Thursday for those students of the men's college who remained on the campus over the holiday. The menu included grapefruit, roast turkey with dressing, mashed potatoes, squash, cranberry sauce, olives, mince and pumpkin pie, ice cream, and coffee. President Thomas brought with him Gamaliel Painter's cane, the emblem of victory over U. V. M., and following the meal "Gamaliel Painter's Cane" and other songs were sung. Roland Darby '21 led cheers for "Prexy" Thomas and "Mother" Mason, matron of Hepburn Hall, finishing with the singing of the Alma Mater.

MIDDLEBURY JOINS DEBATING LEAGUE

Wetherell Club Unites With Vermont and St. Lawrence to Form Forensic Union

St Lawrence University and the University of Vermont have agreed to enter a triangular debating league with Middlebury College, under the constitution of which the first triangular debate will be held sometime between the fifteenth of February and the fifteenth of March. The idea of such a league was suggested by St. Lawrence University following the debate with Middlebury last Spring. When A. N. Woodhead, secretary of the St. Lawrence chapter of Tau Kappa Alpha came here in November to install a Middlebury chapter of Tau Kappa Alpha he brought with him a plan for drawing up a constitution for the debating league, which has recently been adopted after some changes.

The League provides for an affirmative and negative team for each college. The Vermont Negative team will debate at Middlebury, while the Middlbury negative will debate with St. Lawrence at Canton. The St. Lawrence negative team will debate Vermont at Burlington. Under this plan the affirmative team of each college will debate at home. The question to be debated will be selected before the fifteenth of January, and the same question will be debated by all the teams. The debates will be held on the same night.

Some arrangement will also be made to pick men for the teams. Interest in debating has gradually grown, and more men are turning out for the trial debates held in the Old Chapel Friday evenings. The Japanese Immigration question will be debated at the next meeting of the club.

JUDGE SKEELS WRITES PRAISE FOR FOOTBALL MEN

Commending the work of the 'Varsity eleven in its work of the past season Judge Homer S. Skeels '98 of Ludlow, one of the speakers at the Rally-Banquet November 12 writes to Coach Arthur M. Brown:—"I wish that members of the football squad could know just how much their efforts are appreciated by all the friends of Middlebury. I wish you could tell the team in some way how proud we were of them Saturday. Words cannnot express my feelings but I do wish that team to know that I am thankful for the response that they made in that game, not only to the painstaking instructions of the coaches, but to the entreaties of Dr. Drake and myself. Their efforts could not have been improved upon in my judgment. They have once more demonstrated effectively that where there is the old spirit and determination, opposing weight and odds are ineffective. We are proud of the coaches, the team and the College.

INTERCOLLEGIATE

Dartmouth

The English Department of Dartmouth College is planning to establish a magazine of student verse as an addition to the list of college publications.

Announcement has been made of the program for Dartmouth's annual Winter Carnival which is to occur February 10 to 12. The schedule of out door sports will commence Thursday afternoon and will be followed, in the evening, by the Dartmouth Player's production. The Carnival Ball, the great social event of the week-end will take place Friday evening. Other attractions will include a concert by the Dartmouth Musical Clubs, an intercollegiate debate, an intercollegiate basketball game and swimming meet.

Prsident John M. Thomas will speak at the chapel service Sunday at Phillips Exeter Academy.

COLBY PROMISES WINTER VISIT HERE

Secretary of State Accepts Invitation of Professor Lacalle—Latter Not to Go South

While on a business trip to New York last week Professor J. Moreno-Lacalle was in consultation with Secretary of State Bainbridge Colby in regard to the South American trip upon which Scretary Colby will leave directly. Secretary Colby goes as the official representative of the United States, returning recent official visits of prominent officials from several South American republics. Upon the recommendation of Hon. John Barrett, of the Pan-American Union, a tentative proposition had previously been made to Professor Lacalle to accompany Secretary Colby on this trip as interpreter of his informal addresses. While circumstances made it impossible to conclude the necessary arrangements, it is gratifying to the friends of Middlebury to know that a man of Mr. Barrett's wide acquaintance should have selected the Head of the Middlebury Spanish School as the best qualified man in the United States to perform this service for the Secretary of State. Secretary Colby, in his interview with Professor Lacalle, promised to visit the College and make an address here shortly after his return from South America, which will probably be about the middle of January.

FINANCIAL OUTLOOK HOPEFUL SAYS HEPBURN

In an interview appearing in The Brooklyn Eagle and reprinted in part in "The Chase," the monthly publication of the Chase National Bank of which he is Chairman of the Advisory Board, the Hon. A. Barton Hepburn '71 discusses price reduction and refers to the period of price readjustment as a "healthy reaction." He estimates that it may take a year or two to return to a normal stability of prices.

"The condition of declining prices," he says, "is not a matter of choice. It is a matter of necessity. It is necessary to stabilize business and put it back on a sound basis. It should not be looked upon as a calamity, but as a healthy reaction from a situation that was abnormal."

Mr. Hepburn sees no need to be despondent as to the future but rather a "need of putting our houses in order and getting rid of the wild extravagance that has existed."

Y. W. C. A. ADOPTS NEW SCHEDULE FOR MEETINGS

The general theme for the Y. W. C. A. meetings this year is to be a consideration of the purpose of the Association. As stated in the membership pledge this purpose is "To live as a true follower of the Lord Jesus Christ." The subject for each religious meeting will pertain directly to the chosen theme.

The topic for Thursday's meeting is "Beginning to Follow Him." Ruth Ashworth '21 will lead. All members should be present as the Constitution is to be adopted. It is requested that membership cards should be filled out and turned in to Esther Carlson '21 before the meeting.

PRESIDENT THOMAS IS SUNDAY VESPER SPEAKER

Message Interprets Christ as Spirit of Love, Not Law

At the chapel service Sunday President Thomas took for his text a verse from the 13th chapter of St. Matthew, "Behold a sower went forth to sow." He said that these simple words told the whole story of the Man of Galilee,—showed that He was not a stern law giver nor a formal organizer, but One who dealt with the souls of men. There was no scheme or plan in His deeds; it was just the spirit of love and right that He diffused among those simple people of Galilee. This gospel of Christ is but two thousand years old, and in that comparatively short time it has spread by leaps and bounds, but we must give it time to show forth its full glory. To have the spirit of Jesus Christ in our hearts, and to welcome the Seed Sower into our lives, we must accept for ourselves His true ideals; namely, trust in God, and the severe endeavor to do right.

SENATOR HARVEY KINGSLEY RECEIVES LOVING CUP

State Senator Harvey R. Kingsley was presented with an inscribed silver loving cup at his home on Pine street in Rutland, Thanksgiving afternoon, by the committee chosen, consisting of Angeline M. The cup is in recognition of Mr. Kingsley's services in coaching the junior play last year.

EIGHTY COUPLES ATTEND SOPHOMORE HOP

Dance Thanksgiving Eve First of Year's Formal Functions

Eighty couples attended the first formal dance of the year given last Wednesday evening in McCullough Gymnasium, when, according to custom, the class of 1923 gave the Sophomore Hop. On account of the unavoidable tardiness of the orchestra the dance was begun at nine instead of eight as planned, and continued until three. The Williams College Orchestra, which played at the Delta Delta Delta formal dance last year furnished the music for the twenty dances.

In the absence of the class president, Rowland R. Shepardson, Chairman of the Hop Committee, led the grand march which was terminated by the singing of "March, March on Down the Field."

Dance orders were white with maroon cords, and bore a gold "M". The decorations of maroon and white radiated from the class banner, a huge centerpiece bearing the class numerals. Refreshments of ice cream, cake and coffee were served at intermission, and punch was available throughout the dance.

The patrons and patronesses were President and Mrs. John M. Thomas, Professor and Mrs. Earnest C. Bryant, Professor and Mrs. Vernon C. Harrington, Miss Eleanor S. Ross, and Mrs. Maude O. Mason.

SUYEMITSU '14 TEACHING AT JAPANESE UNIVERSITY

Nobuzo Suyemitsu, '14 now a teacher in Doshisha University, Kioto, Japan, writes, "I am very glad to be here with our 'Middlebury Spirit'. Oh! how often I think of my Middlebury life, which was surely one of the happiest seasons of my life. Please remember in one corner of this world there is one Japanese youth, who is striving on his way with full 'Middlebury Spirit', for the Christianization of his country!"

HERE'S HOPING HE READS THIS!

We heard a pretty girl remark that a certain young man was most generous about bringing her candy, but that he always brought her a kind she didn't like, made by somebody she had never heard of.

OUTING CLUB PLANS SEASON START TO-MORROW

New President to be Elected—Want Larger Enrollment

The election of a president to fill the vacancy caused by the non-return of M. Ross '22 and the formulation of plans for the coming season will constitute the main business to be transacted at a meeting of the Outing Club called for to-morrow afternoon at 1:30 in Hepburn Hall. Preliminary training for the coming meets with other eastern colleges at the Dartmouth and McGill carnivals is under consideration by the club's officers and will probably be started before the holidays. A plan for undertaking an all-afternoon hike for club members on one of the two next week-ends will be introduced by Vice-president W. H. Fitzpatrick '22. An effort will also be made to obtain a large enrollment of new men from all of the classes in college.

Secretary W. R. Cole '22 has received an invitation from the Dartmouth Outing Club to consider the advisability of organizing an inter-collegiate ski association which would take in leading colleges in the east which have been active in winter sports and which would naturally assume the direction of future inter-collegiate contests. Similar invitations have been extended to the outing clubs at McGill, Vermont, Bates, Williams, Colgate, Cornell and New Hampshire State.
